Specifications

It has a working metal pulley that looks like an old-fashioned hoist and boom, and it's finished in Aged Bronze for an antique style.

This clock is crafted from durable metal with an Aged Bronze finish for antique flair. It has a working pulley and double-sided clock head that raises and lowers with the hand crank.

Each of the white dials has black Arabic numerals, along with a black minute track and hands. Glass crystal covers the dials and a metal wire mesh cage provides an eye-catching finishing touch. The wire cage is removable, so you can leave it on or display the clock without it.
