This 93rd-anniversary edition wooden grandfather clock is a Howard Miller classic.

Details

Specifications

Howard Miller delivers traditional design with a lightly distressed Cherry Bordeaux finish on select hardwoods and veneers. This special anniversary wooden grandfather clock includes an Anniversary Edition inscription on the dial. The hinged front door features a glass pane framed by removable wood mullions. The lower door is framed by simple columns with decorative corbel caps and a glass mirrored back panel.

An aged dial features worn black Arabic numerals and charcoal finished hands. The rotating moon disk features artwork by American Hudson School artist, Thomas Cole: "The Hunter's Return — 1845" and "Home in the Woods — 1847". Completing the look are aged nickel finished weight shells and pendulum bob.

Removable upper side panels offer easy access to the movement of this clock. The dial and case are illuminated and adjustable levelers under each corner provide stability on uneven floors.

This clock features high-precision, cable-driven, Westminster chime movement with an automatic nighttime chime shut-off option.
