DETAILS

The dawn of the 20th century brought new designs and innovations in architecture, art and pool tables. Cubism, Prairie Style, and Modernism were evolving into the early signs of the Deco era. The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company began creating pool tables with a massive body style and large elephant leg columns as legs. These Jumbo framework tables are known for their unusual strength, durability and, of course, design.

The smooth polished cabinet sides are convex in shape and supported by massive square legs. A highly detailed carved band of egg and dart moldings accent the lower face of the rail and cabinet completing this exquisite table.
